

EDITED BY HITHA PRABHAKAR
hitha.prabhakar@metro.us

Father's Day gift guide

Here are some Metro picks for the discriminating dad

SUSAN STAPLETON is the editor in chief of Philadelphia Style magazine.

For more in-depth style coverage, check out the current issue of Philadelphia Style, the area's premier source for fashion and lifestyle, on sale now at area bookstores and newsstands. Or subscribe by logging on to www.phillystylemag.com

The business dad: Brighter is better this summer in men's fashion. Add a little color to your dad's business wardrobe with a button-down shirt and tie combination from Boyds (1818 Chestnut St.), offset with a pair of David Yurman cuff links (Govberg at Boyds, 1818 Chestnut St.).

The entrepreneur: A father who is constantly on the go needs to remember the time as it flies by. The SO5 by Armand Nicolet features black or silver dials and characteristic luminous minutes, dots, Arabic numerals and hands. Every SO5 watch comes in a special box with two or three versions of straps provided to suit different occasions: sporty, informal, outdoor or in the workplace.

The wine connoisseur: For the dad who considers himself a wine expert, encourage his hobby with a bottle of Stella's Garden, one of Vine Street Imports' exclusive Lost Highway wines. This shiraz is an affordable luxury at $60 a bottle.

The looker: Keep dad looking great with the Kiehl's Men's Collection, which includes the company's ever-popular shaving cream and multi-purpose facial formula (1737 Walnut St.).

ARMAND NICOLET watches help dad be in the right place at the right time.

The athlete: For the father who wants to give back, take him to the Run 4 Your Life Beat Prostate Cancer 5K Run, 5K Walk and one-mile Fun Walk on Father's Day. To run, show up at the Philadelphia Museum of Art Eakins Oval at 8:30 a.m. Registration is $25.

KIEHL'S MEN'S COLLECTION keeps dad's skin looking young.