

The Philadelphia Inquirer

WWW.PHILLY.COM

SUNDAY
JAN. 9, 2005

Image

DRINK

Hands-down winner

Many bargain red wines from Australia are soullessly fruity, barely a step past grape juice. But The Lucky Country is a screw-cap with guts. This impressive wine made by Two Hands, one of Australia's hottest big-ticket shiraz houses, is a deeply drinkable shiraz-cabernet blend lush with black cherry flavor and an edge of woody spice.

$14.49 at Pennsylvania State Stores.

— Craig LaBan